BUILD MIDGET PLANE

Aircraft Weighing 500 Pounds Designed and Constructed by Two Marion Men in Spare Time Shows Up Well in Test Flights

RADIO passed through the stage where the home craftsman tinkered with mysterious coils transformers wires and sockets Today the popular fad is turning to the airplane and almost any day one can see a miniature single-seated monoplane, a local product at Marions unofficial airport north east of the city

The ship is the product of two Marion men C W Ferguson who has gained considerable fame in this section of the state as an airplane builder and Roy Pfeiffer Pfeiffers home is in Mansfield although for the past several months he has been living in Marion

The plane which has made several successful flights with H F Thompson of the Lima airport as pilot is but a vest pocket edition of the larger ships It weighs around 500 pounds and has a wing spread of less than 20 feet. It is equipped with a three cylinder 30 horsepower motor of the radial type

Made in Spare Time

Ferguson and Pfeiffer completed the plane in about three months of spare-time labor With the exception of the wing which is made of spruce steel tubing was used throughout for the construction of the frame work A single seat for the pilot is located just back of the wing

According to Thompson who had the plane up for a test flight in presence of the writer the ship handles very easily although a little tail heavy This feature can easily be remedied it was stated The craft will develop a maximum speed of approximately 100 miles an hour

Ferguson has constructed three airplanes in the last two years All three of them he said have made successful flights one being smashed up in landing The new craft has been licensed with the federal government

No Plans Used

According to Ferguson the plane was constructed without the aid of plans Pfeiffer has had some experience in aviation although not a licensed flier He has had four hours of solo flying

Ferguson stated that he is planning to construct five machines similar to his latest product He is talking of manufacturing the ships for sale if the proper backing can be obtained His latest plane cost approximately $1,500 to build

Ferguson is employed as a welder at the Osgood Co plant

NEW YORK according to its police commissioner Mr Whalen possesses 32,000 speakeasies and 18,000 policemen to regulate the speakeasies

Commissioner Whalen now appoints 100 policemen to make sure that the remaining 14,840 policemen keep out of the 32,000 speakeasies—as customers

* * *

Just how 100 men can keep 17,740 men from dropping into any one of 32,000 retail rum stores is not clear but Mr Whalen's ideas are usually good.

In the old days New York had 8,000 saloons and 8,000 policemen one saloon to one policeman and about the same number of school teachers

Now it has about two speakeasies for each policeman!

There is a difference between prohibiting and preventing

AT the beginning of his term President Hoover in accordance with custom received all visitors to the White House—Tom Dick and Harry—on three days each week, then wisely cut public receptions to two days a week Now receptions are reduced to one day a week—Wednesday

STATE RESTS CASE IN GROH LIQUOR TRIAL

Cole Corroborates Testimony of Little on Ex-Mayor's Acceptance of Bribe

COURTROOM CROWDED

Session Held as Young Beetham Is Absent from Hearing

NEW PHILADELPHIA May 23—The prosecution in the liquor conspiracy trial of ex-Mayor Peter J Groh of Dover Ohio rested its case a little after noon today

Presentation of the defense's case immediately began

Five Dayton men assumed the witness stand one after another and denounced the character of Ed Little Dayton ex-state dry agent who obtained the evidence against Groh

Case To Jury Friday

Four of the men are attorneys and upon cross examination admitted that they had defended bootleggers whom Little had at one time or another arrested in Dayton

With the resting of the state's case it was predicted that the fate of the ex-mayor would be given into the hands of the jury late tomorrow afternoon or Saturday morning

Sam K Beetham deputy prohibition director of Ohio was called to the stand shortly before the state had rested

Beetham Testifies

He related how he had rushed to Dover immediately upon the news of the arrest

I interviewed Groh in the New Philadelphia jail the same night he was arrested Beetham declared

He said to me I guess I'm in bad and then also admitted taking the money from Little but denied however that it was a liquor bribe

The second day of the trial of the ousted Dover official started after considerable delay this morning due to the absence of Sam K Beetham deputy prohibition commissioner of Ohio who is assisting the state

John O Cole Steubenville who with Ed Little Dayton resigned under fire' from the state dry squad recently took the witness stand

His testimony corroborated the evidence offered by Little yesterday in which the latter former officer charged that Groh accepted a $50 bribe from him

Courtroom Crowded

A jury of eight men and four women is hearing the case

The courtroom was taxed to capacity

Groh himself sat slumped in a seat at the defense counsel's table and appeared interested and calm His six feet of height made him appear taller than he really is compared with the other figures in the courtroom The former mayor is of a slim build He has curly gray hair

Little Recalled

Little whose evidence is admittedly the most damaging was recalled to the witness stand after Cole had testified

Groh is expected to take the witness stand as soon as the defense starts to present it case

Mrs Groh the Dover mayor's wife is

Scouts Set Record

Winning Troop Out for Mobilization in 14 Minutes

NEW speed records for Boy Scout troop mobilization here were set when 222 Marion scouts were assembled at the corner of West Church and South Prospect sts within 35 minutes after Scout Executive Walter C Brown had issued the mobilization call at 7:30 o'clock this morning

Troop 10 with Roy Weston as scoutmaster won first prize and set a new record when the entire troop was assembled ready for work 14 minutes after Executive Brown had issued the call The 34 scouts in the troop were all in uniform and ready for business in a big way at exactly 5 14 o'clock

Troop No 12 of St Mary's Catholic church was the second in which scoutmaster the Rev Herbert McDevitt had his troop out 100 per cent in 10 minutes after 6 o'clock

Third place was taken by troop No 1 with Dr V C Kissell as scoutmaster This troop had 87 per cent of its scouts present at 8 minutes after 6 o'clock

Patrol Out Early

Robert Jennings had his Beaver patrol of troop 1 out earlier than any other patrol but the rest of the troop was too slow in assembling to take first place

Roy Converse was the first scout to arrive at the scene of the mobilization Other scouts have a faint hint that Roy pulled a fast one over on them as young Mr Converse arrived nonchalantly at the city parking but exactly three minutes past 7 o'clock This certainly will be a hard record to break

Three scouts won the original speed honors of the morning arriving at the point of mobilization a half hour before it had been called Mr Brown said that he didn't have the least idea how the scouts found out about the mobilization being called this morning but there they were

Within a half an hour after the mobilization had been called

"FORT WORTH" PILOT MAKES REPAIRS IN AIR

Broken Tachometer Shaft Replaced, Plane Aloft 96 1-2 Hours

FORT WORTH Tex May 23—Jim Kelley co-pilot with Reg Robbins of the Fort Worth attempting to set a new refueling endurance record successfully replaced a broken tachometer shaft in the motor of their plane this morning Kelley's work was extremely hazardous as he had to work from a narrow cat walk built round the motor

The rebuilt Ryan brougham monoplane was slowly circling west of the airport here at 12 03 p m completing 96 hours in the air

The tachometer shaft which was replaced is attached to the camshaft of the motor It indicates to the flyers the number of revolutions per minute their motor is turning and is invaluable to them in making speed estimates

Kelley wore a parachute while making the adjustment

DEBT STORM STARTED AS GERMAN QUITS

Dr Albert Voegler Resigns from Staff of Reparation Experts

OBJECTS TO YOUNG PLAN

Nationalist Papers Denounce Allies, Situation Is Critical

BERLIN May 23—Dr Albert Voegler resigned today as one of the chief German reparation experts precipitating a new reparation storm in Germany

Dr Voegler who was colleague of Dr Hjalmar Schacht in the Paris negotiations was regarded as guardian of the German industrial interests His resignation was attributed to the following causes

1—Increase of the annuities designated in the Young plan by the Allied experts

2—Rejection by the allies of the German proposal for a moratorium to assist Germany in meeting the annual reparation obligations

3—Allied demand that German payments be extended to 58 years Dr Voegler contended that the extension of payments over 58 years was a violation of the Versailles treaty

Official announcement of the resignation of Dr Voegler was followed by wild clamor in the Nationalist Press Some papers denounced the Allies as worse than Oriental cheaters They declare that Germany is being cheated out of one whole annuity

An official spokesman frankly told International News Service that the situation is critical

Breakdown May Follow Resignation

PARIS May 23—With official announcement from Berlin of the resignation of Dr Albert Voegler, one of the principal members of the German delegation the conference of reparations experts today faced a crisis which may result in complete breakdown

Optimistic spirits around the council table are hopeful that a breakdown may be avoided by judicious handling of the situation but it now appears certain that the best which can be hoped for is a prolonged negotiation Instead of the speedy settlement of the vexing problem which was hoped for

Dr Voegler's position on the German delegation is expected to be

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE RITTER CASE

Grants Requests for Review of Litigation Over Will

Final construction of the will of the late Charles F Ritter will be made by the state supreme court as a result of recent action of the court

Yesterday the court granted a motion filed by the law firm of Clark & Arter to require the third district appellate court to certify its record of the case with the high court In an action some time ago the appellate court upheld a decision of the Marion county common pleas court.

Under the terms of the Ritter will certain legatees were to receive benefits from the estate upon the death of Mrs Ritter. The widow however, elected to take her share according to the amount allowed by law rather than under the terms of the will. The local court then held that the legatees were immediately qualified to receive their shares of the estate.

Attorney John R. Clark of the firm of Clark & Arter, who acted as counsel for the late Howard A. Barnes executor of the Ritter estate said today that the interests of the children of Mrs Ritter [illegible]

Nearly two score captains reported today that their outfits had attacked every section of the city this morning A total of 1,017 persons offered unconditional surrender.

After a brief pause at noon while the soldiers answered mess call at the Marion club the barrage which was turned on the city early this morning was resumed As the afternoon progressed the range of fire broadened

Companies owned by interests outside the city have subscribed $700, Morgan Burke reported

Several captains who went over the top this morning had not returned from no man's land in time to report their casualties today These were chiefly in the industrial division although no report was made by the committee on schools and clubs

Who will win the war?

That was the question that was heard on every side today as the army returned to battle

Two captains were decorated for bravery at the report meeting today They were F L Alexander and Mrs Edmund Keller

Another Report Friday

Alexander a captain in Maj Howard Mapes division reported total committee of $1,005 Mrs Keller, a captain in Mrs John McNamara's division reported $222.50 These were the largest reports in the men's and women's territorial divisions The captains were awarded prizes donated by local business houses

Another report on progress of the army will be given at 12 o'clock Friday

Unlike most armies this one is self supporting It does not live on the fat of the land while on the march Each soldier pays his or her own keep.

The big feather in Marion's hat, depicted on a poster at the south entrance to the courthouse, will show red more than half way to the top today as a result of the noon reports

Daily Proverb—"A prudent man concealeth knowledge, but the heart of fools proclaimeth foolishness."

A burglar gets jewelry valued at $22,150 from a Columbus home. That settles it. Hereafter we keep our more elaborate jewels in a safety deposit vault.

Fred Cabler is quoted as saying that "jazz is a heterogeneous tintinabulation of smothered groans and suppressed shrieks." We don't know Fred, but we'll say this for him; he has a marked sense of the niceties of description.

"There is nothing worse for music," says Sir Hugh Allen, "than to have it all day and every day until at last it becomes as familiar as the central heating of the house." Hugh's neighbors must have loud speakers on their machines.

"The Council for the Conservation of Whales" has been organized in New York, the organization being sponsored by American Society of Mammalogists. That's all right so far as it goes, but it will appeal to many that the crying need of the times is a council for the conservation of humanity.

Speaking before the American crime study commission in Chicago, Miss Jane Addams questioned the benefits of capital punishment. Every one to his or her own view, Jane, but we can not recall ever having heard of a serious crime being committed by one who had previously suffered capital punishment.

Superior Judge William N. Gemmill, of Chicago, says that eighty-five per cent. of all marriages are successful, but the other fifteen per cent. certainly has 'em beaten to a frazzle when it comes to beating the publicity tom-tom.

A wealthy official of Peking traveled twenty miles on his hands and knees, carrying his wife on his back, and climbed 4,000 feet up the rocky slope of the mountain, Miao Fingshan, in this year's pilgrimage of the penitents. Little wonder that the Chinese have survived for over forty centuries, in the face of faith such as that!

Secretary Mellon has again denied that he is contemplating the resigning of the treasury portfolio. The secretary has been forced to waste a lot of valuable time, possibly, in uttering such denials, but he cheerfully bobs up with them when occasion demands, and it looks as though he will yet outlast the "Get Mellon" gang at its own game.

Submarine and Crew Raised.

From Colon in the Canal zone comes the story of the raising of the submarine S-11 from a depth of eighty-seven feet in Panama bay under just such conditions as might have obtained had the vessel been accidentally, rather than intentionally, sunk to that depth. The test marked the first time that a submarine and its crew was raised from the bottom of the sea in the history of our navy.

Such was the success of the test that naval officers hold that with submarines constructed and equipped under present-day plans, such disasters as followed the sinking of the S-51 or the S-4 could hardly be possible; that the crews could be rescued in similar accidents with little, if any, loss of life.

The test started when the S-11 left the port of Balboa, the morning of May 17. At 8 o'clock she signalled that she was on the bottom. The submarines S-12 and S-20 sailed out of port, and the two located the S-11 by her signals just an hour after her first call. Then the rescue ship, Mallard, left Balboa, and sighted bubbles at 10:30 o'clock. Twenty-five minutes later a grapnel had been hooked onto the sunken vessel by a diver. At 11:45 four buoys had been planted directly over the submarine. At 3:55 o'clock an air hose had been hooked on in readiness to blow water out of any ballast tank. At 4:19 the Mallard began to blow the water out of the S-11 and the submarine came to the surface at 5:05 o'clock and was attached to the buoys.

The crew of the S-11 remained in compartments not supposed to be flooded during the test and did not experience any discomfort. They received food by means of the submarine signal ejector, operated from inside the craft, which was also used to send messages in bottles to the rescue ship and the two submarines on the surface.

When one compares the nine hours and five minutes, the time of the test, with the days upon days consumed in raising the submarine run down by the coast guard patrol vessel off Provincetown, one may get something of a line on the wonderful strides which have been made looking to the safeguarding of the lives of the crews of submarines since the sickening fates of the S-51 and the S-4.

May Prove a Blessing in Disguise.

It is the history of this old world of ours that blessings often come to us in disguise; that what we often at first thought take for misfortunes turn out to be benefits.

In this connection, it may be said that it is possible that greater gain may come to the world as the result of the mishaps to the motors of the Graf Zeppelin which caused her commander to turn back than another successful transatlantic round trip would have accomplished.

The splendid response by both official and civilian France to Commander Hugo Eckener's wireless that he was drifting helpless, utterly unable to maneuver the dirigible, quickened the French to do their utmost to prevent the big airship from drifting out to sea and resulted in her safe landing at Cuers. Advices from the French naval air station are to the effect that the forced landing resulted in a decidedly sentimental reaction throughout that part of France; that members of the crew at liberty for sightseeing were from almost the first literally besieged by motorists, who took them anywhere they desired to go and treated them royally. As an illustration of the French feeling toward the crew, it was recited a day or two ago that fifty limousines awaited the pleasure of six men of the crew off duty for the day, and it was stated further that French and German officers, as a result of the interest in the troubles of the Zeppelin's motors, have been drawn into such close and friendly contact that French officers and naval men resent civilian attentions to the Germans, regarding them as their own guests.

"They are truly a remarkable crowd," a high French officer is quoted as having said of the German crew, "the best fellows in the world and they have given me several tips to think over."

Equally expressive of the feeling as an outgrowth of the Zeppelin's mishap is the statement of a Zeppelin officer, who is quoted as saying: "It would be splendid if we could take some of these fine fellows across the Atlantic or around the world with us. You know, they know their job, and if we work together wouldn't that be fine?"

Just before the start of the flight to America, when there was every reason to anticipate its coming success, there was no such feeling on the part of the French as herein expressed, nor a like feeling on the part of the Germans, probably, toward the French. It will be recalled that the time given the Germans by the French to pass over France was decidedly limited and the route to be followed very plainly indicated. What a change was wrought in French feeling by the hazardous situation of the German airship! The French government officials actually advised the Zeppelin to seek to make Cuers, where there was a landing mast—Cuers, the naval air base of the great French naval base at Toulon, the very points the German airship commander, before the start of the flight, had been directed by the French to avoid.

This call by a former foe to the humanity of the French probably has brought the two wartime enemies closer than they could have been brought in any other way in many years.

President Hoover has cut down the executive office handshaking receptions to one a week. Why not cut them out altogether? Surely the president of the United States can devote his time to something more profitable than being a sort of a adjunct to a Washington sightseeing trip.

Two hundred persons have been arrested charged with taking part in a postal conspiracy by which Uncle Sam lost the sale of $500,000 worth of stamps, those guilty of the fraud having chemically bleached the cancellation marks off stamps of the larger denominations and disposed of them for seventy cents on the dollar. In other words, if 200 were engaged in the conspiracy, as charged, their fraud paid them $1,750 on the average. No, there's no question about it. Crime doesn't pay.

Bishop Cannon defends the activity of the church in politics. Of course, it should be understood that by "the church" the bishop refers to the Protestant division of the church.

Professor C. A. E. Winslow, head of the Yale department of health, who has just returned from a trip of several months abroad, says that Europe enjoys better health than at any time since the World war. That's not saying so much. As a matter of fact Europe is in better health than ever before. The statement may be resented, but it may be said that many parts of Europe learned more during the war about sanitation and other agencies for public health than they ever knew before.

Normal student life has been reestablished in Spain with Premier Primo de Riviera still doing business in the same old stand, the rioting of the students apparently having proved futile save in bringing about the deaths of ten persons in the clashes between the students and the police. Come to think of it, student rioting hasn't got very far anywhere in recent years despite the feverish endeavors of the agents of soviet Russia to promote it.

The latest "floating university" cruise seemingly has given more ground for criticism than its predecessors, the students who gave up from $2,500 to $3,600 for first-class accommodations on the trip being poorly fed, housed in hotels held to have been opium dens and houses of assignation, transported in second and third-class trains in hot countries and in one instance having been transported on a pig ship, 2,200 porkers and their accumulated stench being a part of the cargo from Batavia to Singapore. Why a "floating university" anyway, considering the wealth of educational institutions throughout the United States?

Chronic Tiredness.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Every day I meet friends of mine who give evidence of fatigue. They are uncommonly touchy, they are fidgety and nervous, they are fussy and fault-finding, they are unable to concentrate on their daily duties. There is no more unnecessary human experience than the chronic state of tiredness which is the experience of so many individuals.

Life is intended to proceed without friction. All the things we do should be done easily. Our everyday tasks should not get on our nerves. Their duties should be performed patiently and good-naturedly.

A mother may have seemed cross to her children, when, as a matter of fact, she has a heart of gold and the most loving nature in the world. Her true feelings are hidden and smothered by her tiredness and fagged-out condition.

Many a man goes to his office to drive his stenographer and clerks to distraction because of his unpleasantness and irritability. Nothing pleases him. He growls at the waiter and finds fault with the street car system.

Unfortunately, life is so constituted that everybody has daily experiences that seem to demand some form of resentment. If you happen to get out of bed on the wrong side in the morning these disturbing happenings appear to have been multiplied by the million. This is because you are tired, you are worn out, your nervous system has not recuperated over night.

When you feel this way don't send for a doctor or buy a bottle of nerve tonic. What you need is to revise your way of living so that you will have more rest and more sleep.

Just exactly the amount of sleep you must have depends upon your own nature, but knowing that number of hours you require you should religiously give yourself this much time in bed.

If for any reason you do not sleep well do not tear around in the bed as if you were a disturbed alligator. Keep quiet and give nature a chance to send sleep to your eyelids.

Sometimes as a result of indigestion or intestinal fermentation poisons are generated in the body. These seem to have a stimulating effect and result in the prevention of sleep. Every person who suffers from sleeplessness should be governed by this hint and perhaps by the correction of the constipation or of the intestinal fermentation, or whatever it may be, you may find suddenly that the cause for sleeplessness has disappeared.

Fatigue is fatal to effective accomplishment. You may fight off the need of sleep for a few months, but unless you are sensible about it trouble is in store for you. Nature's demands must be met, or disaster is sure to follow. You can add materially to your happiness if you will avoid the causes of fatigue.

D. M. Q—Do you advise a remedy for nasal catarrh?

A—Yes. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Editorial Opinion.

AN INDIAN PROTESTS.

A distinguished son of the Canadian aborigines, who teaches history in an Ontario school, appeals to the provincial educational association against having to teach his classes that his ancestors were primitive savages, as they are depicted in the provincial textbooks. "I am first of all a Canadian," says Major Martin, "but I am also a Mohawk of the Six Nations. I am just as proud of my ancestry as most other people are of theirs, and naturally I am somewhat hurt and humiliated when I am obliged to teach my class that my ancestors were great thieves, dishonest, barbaric and essentially primitive."

A full-blooded Indian teaching history on this side of the line would be similarly hurt and humiliated. The story of the conflict between the American aborigines and the white men has been written by the latter. There is no doubt that in many cases writers have allowed their bias to get the better of them. This is unfortunate; but the demand for the debunking of American history, now widespread in this country, shows that the Indians have not been the only sufferers from this particular historiographical weakness. Their ancestors have not been more unfairly dealt with than, we might say, Andrew Johnson. At the same time, while debunking is in the air, are not the Indians entitled to some of the benefits that may be expected from correcting false comparisons?

The majority of the Indian tribes with which the first white settlers came into contact were both primitive and savage, as the terms are commonly used. They were attacked and bedevilled by the whites, which only made them appear to less advantage. What they would have proved to be in their intercourse with the settlers, if they had all been treated fairly, as William Penn treated those he dealth with, can only be surmised. The settlers themselves were not a gentle lot. Some of them scalped as skilfully as an Iroquois. The bloody massacres that stained the "French and Indian" wars were often inspired and frequently directed by white men. Whites massacred Indians with equal liberality.

When it is remembered that the Indians, when they took the warpath of their own accord, were fighting for the country of their fathers against a foreign invader, a decent regard for fairness demands that the provocation under which they acted be recognized. They were rough people in a rough age, whose ways were not the ways of Europeans; but that they were as bad as they were painted by the early chroniclers is hardly likely.—Detroit Free Press.

FLOOD RELIEF FOR PRIVATE GAIN.

The president should have prompt and effectual support from congress in backing Chief of Engineers Jadwin's interpretation of the flood act as against the proposal of local interests to allow compensation for flood drainage not created by government control measures. The act was deliberately phrased to establish this test, after full discussion, and it is the only fair test. If citizens elect to settle a district subject to natural overflow, there is no more reason why the people of the nation should be taxed to compensate them for the natural conditions of their location than that it should be taxed to compensate other citizens for losses in other enterprises. If a piece of land is inundated because the government, in the public interest, has built works which cause the inundation, compensation at the public expense is just and the law recognizes and provides for it. But to ask for inordinate and uncalled for purchase by the government of flowage rights and put upon the taxpayers of the nation the burden of compensation for all flood losses in these river lands has no equity and should be promptly refused.

The army engineers, moreover, report that compensation for flowage rights and land to be used for control works is from four to eleven times higher than the assessed value. At such rates land purchases on a large scale in the flood regions would be nothing but conscienceless get rich quick schemes.

The taxpayers of the country demand protection from congress and the president from the selfish exploitation of the great work of flood control, from the distortion of its purpose for benefit of private gain, and from exactions which neither the public welfare nor any fair consideration of altruism justifies. The evolution of flood relief needs persistent watching if it is not to be discredited by extortion and private graft.—Chicago Tribune.

In Sunny Spain.

Cordoba began—some scholars affirm—as a Phoenician oil-mill. Since 1900 it has once more become a place of oil and wine.

Time-tables in Spain do not give the hours at which the trains leave, but the time before which they will not start. For instance: "The 6:30? Today it will start at 8:30."

A native dignity that never forsakes them even in dire poverty and squalor is one of the most striking characteristics of the Spanish people.

Toledo is called the city of Cervantes, and the house where he is said to have written "Don Quixote" is shown to tourists. This city more than any other shows Spain's departed grandeur.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, May 23—Those ponderous mansions with generous frontage on upper Fifth avenue have given way almost completely to de luxe apartment-houses, known only by numbers. Only a comparative few remain to create the lavish aura New York so long associated with vast wealth.

Each offers that indefinable gloomy grandeur of barn-like rooms and massive fireplaces before which old "Big Business" sits to study financial pages. On the walls are massive and paint-chipped full-length portraits of ancestors, who peddled polecat skins for the dilettanti to come.

The ancient halls are filled with rare vases, tapestries and other European loot. Eight months of the year they are sealed and boarded and give forth an eerie and musty smell of decay. Through the grilled doorways one sees those grave and chop-whiskered butlers so customary in drawing-room dramas.

The visual outlook has the stiffness of the starched shirt. They are the last of the vanishing Bourbons, born to the aristocracy, and believe firmly in its hereditary supremacy. The manner is not meanly condescending but being born to such snobbishness know nothing else.

As one who for some ridiculous reason or other has no awe whatever of the vested interests or no particular dislike either, I have always nursed a secret longing to pop into one of the block-long drawing-rooms at the coffee hour and announce casually that my uncle was the best tinner in Gallipolis, Ohio.

The younger occupants of these houses, impelled by that restlessness born of superb idleness, are the seasonal visitors to Palm Beach, the Riviera, St. Moritz, and the summers are spent on those expansive Long Island domains where a house without two ball-rooms is considered a shack.

The crisp paterfamilias is an etching in steel. His god to the finish is money. When his family departs, he moves to his club and never misses a day at the office. His wife is usually one of those fading roses whose life is spent in a round of sanitariums.

Every once in a while rich youngsters break traditional shackles, thumb a nose at conventions and hike out on their own. I think of one living in one of those dank, clammy apartments on a mean little street on the left bank of Paris. Three years ago he had an allowance of $150 a week and all the charge accounts he desired. In his father's mansion was a four-room apartment for his exclusive use. But he had to attend dreary family dinners, decorous afternoon teas and was not permitted to bring any one home whose blood was not the royal red. He now lives from hand to mouth with small jobs and looks shabby. Yet says he is happier than ever before.

The famous double of Grover Whalen's leads an unhappy life these days. Before Mr. Whalen became police commissioner, the double was royally welcomed in the cafes. It is one of those basement places with a goose-necked electrical bulb over the door and a push button in the wall. All New Yorker's know them. After the peephole inspection, beyond is Jimmy's, Tony's or Eddie's and if you pass inspection anything from gin fizzes to contraband is on top. In this one is a bartender up from the old swing-door saloon on the Bowery where the bungstarter ruled. He is not accustomed to flip uptown patter. Consequently when an English actor, asking for a drink, said: "Make mine a Scotch and soda, old thing, and have a rout-to-too yourself," it took four persons to unloose the gentleman's neck from the bartender's grip.

Tides Over Head.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Since the gravitation of the moon has so much influence on the seas as to make the water rise and fall in tides, what influence has it on the atmosphere of the earth? Is it responsible for any of the windstorms, tornadoes, changes of temperature, etc.? Would greatly appreciate your writing on this subject.—Otto Lindell, Chicago."

The tidal influence of both the moon and the sun must necessarily be felt by the earth's fluid atmosphere as well as by its liquid oceans. There must be a consequent rise and fall of the barometer, and this is detectable, but the air is so sensitive to changes both of pressure and of temperature that the atmospheric tides are obscured and can not be traced with certainty like the water tides. The winds and the air waves of a tidal nature are combined in their effects. The winds which have the most conspicuous effect arise mainly from differences of temperature in the atmosphere.

There is a common and very beautiful phenomenon of the day sky—the so-called "mackerel sky"—which is ascribed to long air-waves flowing over strata at a lower elevation, thus producing huge ripples, at whose crests the moisture is condensed to form thin clouds in checkered patterns, which glow like mother-of-pearl, because of the refraction of light in the ice-prisms.

The existence of air-waves high in the sky is also often indicated by cirrus clouds in the form of billows, arranged in strikingly regular formation. These cloudy billows are the crests of atmospheric waves. In the hollows between the waves the moisture remains uncondensed, or is reabsorbed as the crest sinks. Helmholtz developed an interesting theory of atmospheric waves, as shown by cloud phenomena, of which George Darwin, the author of the tidal theory of the moon, origin remarks in his book on "The Tides."

"By making plausible suppositions as to the densities of two—superposed—layers of air and as to their relative velocity, he—Helmholtz—has shown that sea-waves of ten yards in length will correspond with air-waves of as much as twenty miles. A wave of this length would cover the whole sky, and might have a period of half an hour. Although the waves are too long to be seen as such, yet the steadiness of the barometer in a gale of wind affords evidence of the correctness of the theory. In fact, when the crest of denser air is over the place of observation the barometer rises, and it falls as the hollow passes. The waves in the continuous trace of the barometer have some tendency to regularity, and have periods of from ten minutes to half an hour. The analogy seems to be pretty close with the confused and turbulent sea often seen in a gale of wind in the open ocean."

To this Darwin appends a note as follows: "A gust of wind will cause the barometer to vary without a corresponding change in the density of the air. It is not therefore safe to interpret the oscillations of the barometer as being entirely due to changes of pressure. If, however, the intermittent squalls in a gale are connected with the waves aloft, the waviness of the barometric trace would still afford signals of the passage of crests and hollows above."

As you see, the part that the moon's or the sun's, tidal attraction plays in such phenomena is inseparable from the effects of wind currents caused by differences of temperature, and other variations in the atmospheric elements. The power of the sun over the earth's atmosphere through its radiation of energy is incomparably greater than through any tidal effects that it may produce. The moon does not much affect temperature, and it has but a slight influence upon the earth's magnetism. — Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Wordsworth, who wrote much beautiful poetry, tells us about a good man, the best part of whose life was his "little unremembered acts of kindness and of love." The distinctive point in Wordsworth's line is the word "unremembered." You see, this man did these little acts almost without knowing that he did them. His life was not compact with deeds of self-conscious virtue which he talked much about and published to the world. He did kind things so naturally and with so little effort that he hardly remembered them. Such a man is like a river, which is a beneficent influence on all the countryside, but which flows on quite steadily and without uproar.

A woman ruler from India visited London some time ago. She found many strange things. Finding them strange, she thought they were wrong.

"I do not think women should have so much liberty," she said; "and I do not approve of very short skirts."

Then she went on to say that according to her religion she believed this, that, and the other thing.

Don't we all say, "according to my religion," or "according to my family, or my town, or my background. According to my things are so or are not so?"

The things which we are used to and understand, we think are right. The things we are not used to and do not understand we are likely to think are wrong. We ought to become more world-minded.

Families share sorrows together and share joy. They are bound together by the tie of duty. Families do not often share fun together. When most people want to go and on a lark or a holiday they are likely to think of their friends before they do their families. Too bad mothers and fathers are so concerned with a day's work and the serious aspects of life they have little time for play or for recreation with their children.

Don't think we are no longer in need of pioneers in this country—pioneer mothers and fathers. The pioneer mothers of us raised sons not afraid to meet the challenge of the forests. We need pioneer mothers who can raise children unafraid to meet the new challenge of the cities.

Tardily we recognized the bravery of our grim mothers and raised a monument to them. Florence Davies, writing in the New York Herald Tribune, tells us we must have mothers today just as brave—not afraid to meet new problems and face new perils.

New SOHIO MOTOR OIL is free from harmful wax

that means less carbon formation

THE BASIS of almost all carbon formation in motor cars is excess wax in the lubricant used. This harmful wax has no lubricating value; when the motor becomes hot it forms into a gummy, sooty cake on cylinder walls and in the combustion chamber. Tiny particles of steel and dust stick to this cake and become what is known as carbon.

Through a special refining process which employs centrifugal action at a temperature 40° below zero, the New Sohio Motor Oil is de-waxed—made free from harmful wax. Carbon deposit naturally is substantially decreased when New Sohio Motor Oil—free from harmful wax—is used. This is particularly important in high-compression motors, since carbon reduces the combustion space and results in knocking and loss of power.

Try the new Sohio Motor Oil, the de-waxed, 100% Paraffin base lubricant, in your own car. Watch thermometer for cooler operation and speedometer for longer mileage. For sale at all Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and by hundreds of dealers all over Ohio.

Tetrazzini's Love Dream Shattered As She Loses Her Youthful Husband

ROME, May 23—Her "love dream" completely shattered, Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini, world famous opera singer who at one time was declared the finest coloratura soprano living, barricaded herself in her apartment here today, and denied herself to the world.

Friends, relations, interviewers and sympathizers were one and all kept from her presence, as she made it known that she wished to have nothing to say about the court decree which granted her a legal separation from her husband, Pietro Vernati, who is almost 40 years her junior.

And Vernati, who for two years and a half knew the thrill of world fame as the youthful half of this May-December marriage, went back to work in his father's modest shirt-making shop in the Via Nazionale.

He too was reticent to speak of the breakdown of the marriage, and declined to give the reasons for the separation.

"Luisa and myself," he told International News Service, "agreed to say nothing of our private affairs."

The separation was granted for incompatibility of temperament and interests.

News of the separation caused as great a sensation throughout Italy as did the marriage between the couple. Their wedding, which took place in Florence, was an elaborate and triumphal affair, and almost the entire city went on holiday to witness the marriage of the famous singer who is now reputed to be over 50, to a comparatively unknown lad of 22.

Put Cincinnati Woman on Jury Commission

CINCINNATI, May 23—Mrs. Leo Lindenberg, a member of the Republican Women's club, had today been appointed as one of Hamilton county's two jury commissioners. She is the first woman to be honored by this appointment.

Judge Frederick J. Hoffman, in making the appointment, pointed out that almost as many women are accepted as jurors as are men, and it was due to this fact that he selected Mrs. Lindenberg for the commission.

BEE CAPTURE EASY FOR ADDISON BAIN

Shows How It's Done in Roundup on South Prospect St.

There are tricks to all trades and if you want proof of the unassailable truth of this statement some day watch Addison Bain, Marion's premier "Beeologist" out after a swarm of Italian Bees which he uses to make honey at his home here.

This reporter happened to be going down South Prospect st., in front of the Marion Club yesterday when Mr. Bain was trying to persuade some very pestiferous bees to enter a box he had brought up for that purpose.

Mr Bain is willing to get rid of any swarm of bees buzzing at large in the city. While he was eating dinner yesterday he received notice from the office of Dr H. K. Mouser, on South Prospect st., that a swarm of bees had been found in a bush in front of the Mouser home. Mr. Bain hurried down and within 20 minutes had the queen bee in his box and the rest of the swarm soon followed their leader and started to make some pure, snow-white honey for their captor.

According to this local authority on the subject the real trick is to get the queen bee into the box and after that the rest is easy. Mr. Bain's manner of procedure is something like this: he takes his box and places it near the place where the swarm of bees is in action. Then he partly smothers the bees with smoke and trusts to the queen bee entering his box.

The swarm which Mr. Bain captured yesterday was the second within 24 hours in the same location. Tuesday he captured a large swarm in the big tree overhanging the sidewalk in front of the Marion club. Inside of 15 minutes he had most of these bees in the box and by nightfall had the entire swarm hard at work manufacturing honey.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr Caldwell started to practice medicine back in 1860 the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today People lived normal, quiet lives ate plain wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine But even then early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their systems So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid vegetable remedy intended for women children and elderly people and they need just such a mild safe gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches biliousness flatulence indigestion loss of appetite and sleep bad breath dyspepsia colds and fevers

Millions of families are now never without Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people All druggists have the generous bottles A trial is sure to convince any household of the merits of this famous prescription —Adv

CORRECTS FIGURES

Sheep Losses This Year Less Than Shown in Report Warden Says

Figures given in last nights news story of sheep losses from raids by dogs in Marion county this year were incorrect according to Dan Rhoads county dog warden

Rhoads says his record shows that only 48 sheep have been killed and six injured since January 1 representing a total loss of $618.50 This record is much lower than the damage toll recorded during the same period in 1928

Rhoads says that the figures published last night evidently included a report of sheep losses sustained late in December of 1928 but not listed in reports to the county commissioners until January of this year

NEW SPEED MARKS SET BY BOY SCOUTS

Winning Troop Out for Morning Mobilization in 14 Minutes

...ce were 111 scouts present These were men put into action their duties for the morning, were to arouse the campaign workers for the Community Fund drive which started this morning and get them to the Marion Club for the 7 0 early bird breakfast

Each Gets Assignment

Each of the first 111 scouts was given he name and address of a worker and it was their duty to get to this man and them eat breakfast and to the breakfast

When the scout returned from his mess on he was taken to the Marion club and given a free breakfast Mr Brown does not like to boast but nevertheless there was an unprecedented attendance at the early breakfast this morning

At the end of the first 75 minutes 202 out of the 280—some scouts in the city were present for work

Troop 10 by its amazing record won the American flag that was given by Scoutmaster Roy Yocum of troop 10 to the winning troop The flag will be presented to the troop next Sunday morning when all the Boy Scouts of the city assemble to escort the G A R to the special services at the Calvary Evangelical church Troop 10 will carry the flag and lead the escort to the church

Mr Brown this morning said The full success of the mobilization was due en tirely to the high interest and cooperation of the scoutmasters

ERROR IN REPORT

Through an error the name of Frank Moore arrested Sunday afternoon on Senate st with James Ackers and Emmett Cain was confused with that of Frank Moore 469 Columbia st in an account in Monday's issue of The Star The Columbia st man was not involved in the arrest

STRATEGY PLAN WINS VICTORY

If a grand prix for strategy in the scout mobilization was to be awarded this year it would undoubtedly go to Ror Weston scoutmaster of the winning troop No 10

Rov conceived the idea of having the entire troop sleep each night this week in one home Starting Monday p m the entire troop of 14 met at one home and slept there the whole night arising at 4 o clock the next morning and getting into uniform ready for the call Tuesday and Wednesday mornings came and went and the boys were getting a bit sleepy

But this a m they were all set and when the call came they lost no time in getting down to Church and Prospect sts Some rode bikes and some walked or rather ran but within 14 minutes the whole troop was there ready for work

enough to convince them that the Gray Phantom did not commit that murder Criminal psychology is out of my line but my conviction tells me that a man of the Phantom's type would not commit that kind of murder

Perhaps you have a theory

'Theory I do not bother my head with theories of that sort How Craig was killed and by whom is a matter of absolute indifference with me

I have followed the case in the newspapers but I have found nothing that interests me The fact that the murder is supposed have taken place in an inner room merely shows that it was committed by an ingenious rascal. Don't you realize that you are on dangerous ground at Tuckaway camp

Vanardy smiled He could see that Hollister's mind was made up in regard to his identity and that denials would be of no avail

There is a certain degree of security in doing the unexpected he replied The people at Tuckaway Camp think I am a meddle some crank and consequently do not devote much attention to me All eyes are not so keen as yours Mr Hollister

A pleased smile curved at the cripples lips Maybe so I wouldn't rely on that however Your secret is safe with me but why risk exposure? You are welcome to occupy room in my house until your investigation is finished You are safer here

I am not so sure of that I have declared my intention to stay at Tuckaway for the present, and a sudden change may arouse suspicion Moreover I am to sleep tonight in the room where Craig was murdered

Sleep The cripples eyes widened he gave a dry little chuckle I doubt if you will sleep much my dear Phantom However I wish you an interesting night Sorry I can't accompany you to the door Come again

He extended his hand It was almost effeminately soft and the contact gave Vanardy an unaccountable chill like that sometimes transmitted by paralytics His mind was full of conflicting impressions as he moved to the door

Good night said Hollister softly Think over what I told you about sleep

Sleep was the thing farthest from Vanardy's mind as he walked fast over the rough and desolate tract that intervened between Tuckaway camp and the cripple's house. His impressions of Hollister were decidedly mixed running the gamut from repulsion to a sort of instinctive attraction In some incomprehensible way the cripple's hill dis covered his identity but Vanardy did not feel he had anything to fear on that score The other man was too completely wrapped up in his hobby to interest himself in the Gray Phantom's affairs and apparently he felt no compulsion to betray his late visitor to the authorities

Let his interview with the erratic connoisseur left Vanardy in a troubled mood If Hollister's untrained eye had found him out, how was it that Culligore and Bell suspected nothing? Perhaps the cripple had only made a shrewd guess Or perhaps Culligore and Bell were not as unsuspecting as they seemed but kept their thoughts to themselves Either theory seemed reasonable but in any event Vanardy decided to spend the night at Tuckaway camp remained unshaken He was becoming increasingly convinced that the riddle of Craig's death was in some way entangled with the mystery of Helen's disappearance

The wind had risen and was wailing with a fretful whine across the lawns at Tuckaway camp There was a light in the window of the library from which he gathered that the lawyer and the two detectives were exchanging observations It was quite a little after 10 so the front door was still unlocked and Vanardy let himself in without ringing Stopping in the vestibule to remove his coat and hat he noticed that the main door stood ajar in the reach and in the next moment he heard some one's laugh

Dawson?' said a peering voice which he recognized as Lieutenant Culligore's You needn't expect much help from him Mr Strahope I'll bet a pair of pink socks that Dawson couldn't see a clue if it was as big as the side of a house

Smiling Vanardy turned to the stairs deciding to retire without the formality of saying good night Culligore's alibi was ridiculous on a point he had been in doubt about but in a lighter mood he ascended the stairs and entered the Tuckaway room A fire was blazing in the grate and as he turned on the light he saw that William had made the bed ready for him He stood before the fire absorbing its pleasant heat when he heard footsteps ascending the stairs He had left the door open and in a moment William entered

I came in to see if you were comfortable sir the servant announced Is there anything you wish

Very thoughtful of you William Vanardy surveyed his neat form standing stiffly at attention and for a moment his eyes rested on the man's shoes I'm sure I shall be quite comfortable By the way I see the door has been repaired since the night of the murder

Yes sir Green the village carpenter came in and fixed it day before yesterday

Then there is no possibility of anyone breaking in on me and murdering me in my sleep?

William's face underwent a subtle change You know what happened to Mr Craig

I know what happened, but not how it happened Perhaps I shall find out tonight His bearded lips parted in a smile What's on the other side of this room William He indicated the wall opposite the fireplace along which the chalk marks on the door extended in an oblong course

Another guest room sir It is much smaller than this one and it has never been used much

Vanardy nodded I'm glad you didn't disturb the chalk marks when you put the room in order William They may prove useful What's on the other side?' He motioned toward the fireplace

A bathroom sir and on the other side of that is a linen closet This is a very old house sir and private baths were very rare in this section when it was built Anything else sir

Yes, William Vanardy came a few steps closer to him You may tell me where you went after dinner this evening

The servant's jaw sagged a startled gleam animated his stolid blue eyes Then he pulled himself together with an effort that aroused the questioner's admiration

You must be mistaken sir I have not been out since dinner

'Sure of that? The sand along the bench is soggy and I notice your shoes are wet and that there are particles of sand between the soles and the uppers How do you account for that

William looked down at his feet, arched his brows for a moment, then met Vanardy's gaze squarely

I don't know why you question me sir he said stiffly If you don't approve of my conduct I suggest that you make your complaint to Mr Stanhope'

With a defiant swagger he walked out of the room closing the door with unnecessary vigor His control over his nerves was admirable but his demeanor under questioning had substantiated Vanardy's impression that William was the prowler he had trailed away from the house earlier in the evening Where he had gone was still a mystery however and Vanardy knew that further questioning would be useless for the present.

A knock on the door shattered his thoughts Stanhope suave and elegant walked in with a smile on his face and the faintest suggestion of perfume about his well groomed person

So here you are' he said cheerily We were wondering what had become of you

I usually take a walk after dinner I did so this evening

Hm The lawyer's fine dark eyes widened slightly 'Did you go anywhere in particular'

'Can't say I did replied Vanardy evasively not caring to go into details as to how he had come upon Hollister's house I struck up a most unusual acquaintance however I met a man who is an authority on sleep'

Oh Bryan Hollister' Stanhope smiled indulgently, and, it occurred to Vanardy, with a faint trace of relief 'I've heard of the gentleman. What on earth did you expect to learn from him?'

Nothing My call wasn't premeditated What do you know about him?'

'Very little, I understand he has lived in that old house for years, ever since an attack of rheumatory rheumatism made it impossible for him to move about. The villagers think he is a bit cracked.'

I found him extraordinarily keen,' said Vanardy, a suggestion of a smile playing about his bearded lips

Stanhope waived the subject, and 'Are you really determined to spend it you know Bell or Culligore would gladly—

I wouldn't trade places with them for anything declared Vanardy emphatically I anticipate a very interesting night' By the way you had quite a long talk with Culligore and I'll bet a pair of pink socks that Dawson couldn't see a clue if it was as big as the side of a house

Vanardy turned to the fireplace and lit a cigarette and as he did so he noticed a bit of paper on the floor which was not there when he had been in the room before Picking it up he saw that it was a torn piece of pink paper, evidently from a package of cigarettes

Bunt's folks That got a laugh for Bunt's father works in the stink factory where the fertilizer is made and Bunt has to wear his father's old clothes and when he gets warmed up he don't smell like anyones geranium

I knowed didn't dast to go home from school alone so I told Nonnie that if she'd go home with me and Mugsie and Freddie and Bobby I'd go in the kitchen even my mother ordered and ask if we I had gone Annabelle Lee the sheary and I was glad then that I had had the nerve on the floor When we got in Anna Belle's head look'd like she had the mange or something There was places where the hair was cut through her scalp My mother had took'en her to the barber but he couldn't do anything with it So she can't go to school with me Tomorrow I am so sorry I would of turned handsprings upstairs when I went to bed if I could have

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

—BY ADELE GARRISON—

Dicky's Insane Jealousy Signs That His Old Love for Her Is Flaming Anew

DICKY himself was ashamed of the sneer with which he had answered Lillian's assertion that I had not wished to go with Philip Verriden to the country inn for tea I saw through my flaming anger I realized that as he followed the ominous words with a quick contrite "Sorry Lil I don't mean to doubt your word of course"

"Never mind about me Lillian retorted "Mine I make no pretensions in this It's your reaction to what Madge did that's important Now I give you my word that Madge went to explain things to Philip Verriden out of her own volition, solely at my urging and that their presence at the tearoom was simply because they could talk better there than in a car I expect you to believe me and to calm down You can fight the question out with Madge later if you wish when you're in a saner mood But just now you're going to see her alone over my dead body

Dicky bent to the steering wheel averting his eyes from both of us

There is nothing more to be said, evidently," he commented with a shrug "I always bow to your decisions, Lillian You know that And—I accept your explanation of course'

He sent the car along the driveway and around the corner of the house while Lillian leaned back in the seat and gave a deep sigh

Was Dicky Jealous?

That's the worst run in I've had in many a year she said and I don't like it. But when he gets in one of those jealous tantrums of his nothing but rough stuff goes One thing you ought to hug your heart all day—if jealousy is a proof of love you don't need to worry about the state of your husband's affections for the present at least

She did not look at me as she spoke, and I got the impression that she was carefully avoiding my eyes I was glad indeed of her thoughtfulness—if such it were—for I feared that she would see in my crimson face and my excited eyes how deeply her apparently casual remark had affected me

Was it possible that one reason for Dicky's jealous outburst to Philip Verriden was a revival of his old impetuous feeling for me? In all my troubled consideration of the entanglement between my husband and me I had not considered this possibility

I had known that he was jealous of my employer but I had had it in his pride and the ego of possession which makes so many objects to their wives receiving even innocuous and conventional attentions from other men And I had rigidly disciplined myself to accept as something probably unchangeable the terms of our word amity (or inward enemy, most in which we were living Hardly had my husband attempted to break down the barrier which his awful distrust of me at the time of Grace Draper's suicide had raised between us There had seemed a promise of drawing nearer each other when Harry Underwood had been restored to our world again, but it was a promise unfulfilled and I knew—subconsciously at least—that Dicky's business partnership with Edith Fairfax and my professional association with Philip Verriden were the main factors in keeping us apart

Returning Love

Another soul racking thought shook me and with a sudden little exclamation I threw open the door of the car and jumped to the ground

"Excuse me," I said lamely I forgot something I should have attended to before I left"

Don't mind me' she said with a visceral bitterness which startled me a little as she had intended doing

I flew through the hall to the kitchen cut up Katie's stairs leaving no little until well over at my haste But I intended taking no chance of meeting Dicky secure in my own room for Marie's complete consolation had restored it to me I bolted my door behind me and threw myself breathlessly into a chair

For I was face to face with some thing in my own soul which was racking me as all might some medieval instrument of torture Lillian's chance comment—or was it chance—I was not sure—had brought me not only the possibility that Dicky's old affection for me might be flaming again, but another still more disturbing

I had found—not happiness but a certain calmness, a contentment, a freedom from worry, in the part which my husband and I were keeping Was it possible that I was deceiving myself that underneath what I had thought to be only the embers of my affection for him my old tempestuous passion for him was threatening to burst forth into flame?

THOSE muscular pains, commonly called rheumatism, are generally due to a run down condition, with the number of red blood cells below the normal count

S S S aids the system in building up these red blood cells and in getting rid of the condition of which the rheumatism is but a symptom The body becomes strong and disease resistant, and the rheumatic pains go

Pains in your muscles and joints make you miserable, less efficient, interfere with your working hours, ruin your sleep. If allowed to continue, as the years pass the danger increases.

But what a change with rich, red blood-cells in your body—Nature's building material—making the flesh firm—giving strength to the vital organs.

You can't rub rheumatism out. It is deeper than that. It must be knocked out. And the sure way is by helping the fighting blood—the red-blood-cells!

Increase your army of "workers" (red blood cells), and those muscle and joint pains, commonly called rheumatism, vanish S S S. has brought this change about for thousands. Why not for you?

"After suffering several years six bottles of S.S.S. completely relieved me of rheumatism It also cleared up a skin eruption and gave me a good appetite I think S.S.S is a wonderful medicine"
R I Bunt
Southern Railway
Knoxville, Tenn.

"I was very nervous, had hardly any appetite, and suffered with rheumatism. I tried many medicines, but S S S is the one that did me the most good I am now well, and feel like a new man"

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

—BY JUDD M LEWIS—

ONE more day and school's out Gosh! I hope if I am ever going I die it won't be just when vacation starts or even when the school term is half over I would rather it would be the first day school starts up That would be a joke on the teacher I hugged Jubilee up tight when I woke up this morning and told him that after one more day after today I could be with him all the time except on Sunday when I have to go to Sunday school with my face and neck and ears washed and he wagged his tail as if he understood it but he couldn't fool me All he understood was that I was hugging him and talking to him and that will always make him wag

I let Jubilee down and hung my pants over my shoulders by by suspenders and went down and fired the kitchen fire and went out and done my work and when I was feeding my face my mother said that tomorrow is the last day of school and there won't be much doing and I may take Annabelle Lee along for a visitor and let everyone see what a good looking baby looks like. Someone is always spoiling everything

I came back in the house before I went to the pasture and Annabelle Lee was setting on the floor and nobody paying her any mind. I got the shears and made out like I was cutting the hair off the top of my head, and she watched me and I showed her a little piece of hair, and then she began to reach and holler for the shears, so I laid them on the floor and shun out.

Nibs was smoking his pipe all the way to the pasture and then all the way to school, and the teacher was standing by his desk while everyone was doing a problem on the board, and she said that Nibs was

ECKENER TO PILOT GRAF TO HOME PORT

Decides To Return to Cuers-Pierrefen as Courtesy to French

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN Germany May 23—After a wild dash by automobile across Switzerland Dr Hugo Eckener commander of the Graf Zeppelin caught a train at 2 o'clock this morning at Zurich for Toulon He intends to pilot the Graf home to Friedrichshafen from Cuers Pierrefen himself instead of placing it in charge of Navigating Officer Ernst Lehmann as planned This action was presumably taken out of courtesy to the French who expected Dr Eckener to return for his ship

The refilling of the Graf with hydrogen gas supplied by the French has been completed and the ship is ready to leave for its home port It probably will start from Cuers-Pierrefen about sunset in the evening If anything prevents departure at that time the airship will leave tomorrow morning

TODAY'S Commander Straight Eight has swept to a popularity which eclipses even that of its illustrious predecessor, the gallant Commander which electrified all motordom by speeding 25,000 miles in 22,968 minutes

Studebaker, Builder of Champions, holder of every official speed and endurance record for fully equipped stock cars, now sells more 8-cylinder cars than any other manufacturer on earth

The first Studebaker straight eight was introduced at last year's motor shows Its champion performance started the nation's swing to Studebaker. Smart, youthful style added still greater impetus But it is value—Studebaker's famous One Profit value—that is the real reason for Studebaker supremacy

The Commander Light blends flashing style and supple, eager power with comfort unknown until Studebaker introduced ball bearing spring suspension Hydraulic shock absorbers further enhance its matchless travel ease Double-drop frame, lower, costlier, but steadier and safer, permits low-swung and swifter appearance. Easier, more powerful brakes, safe, steel-core steering wheel, non-shattering windshield—these evidences of Commander quality make its One-Profit price quite as remarkable as its performance.

And Commander performance is something you can never forget, once you enjoy it for an hour May we place a Commander at your disposal?

Two Boards Fight For Rail Control

Taplins Oust Directors Of Van Sweringen Group; Latter Seek Police Aid

Records and Offices of Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad Two Complete Sets of Directors Now Seeking To Govern System Wanted by Cleveland Magnates

[illegible] Mar 23 — The [illegible] Erie railroad con[illegible]ued by both the [illegible] and Taplin interests today found itself in the unique situation of having two complete sets of officers and two boards of director each of which claims to be authentic

A spectacular battle between representatives of the Van Sweringen brothers O P and M J and the Taplin brothers Frank E and C P was staged during the annual meeting here today

When the Van Sweringen interests arrived and passed a motion to proceed to election of new directors the Taplin interests held that the meeting still was in progress and that new directors could be elected

Oust 12 Directors

The Taplin allies adopted a resolution removing 12 Van Sweringen directors from the board and substituting seven Taplin representatives. The new Taplin board then proceeded to elect Frank E Taplin as its chairman and president of the road succeeding W M Duncan.

Meanwhile the old board had called on police to guard the railroad's offices and records against the purported board of directors set up by the Taplins Common Pleas Judge Alvin I Fear granted the old board a temporary injunction restraining the new board from assuming any of the duties of Wheeling & Lake Erie directors

Ruling Awaited

The Van Sweringen directors said they postponed election of directors due to the controversy over legality of preferred stock The interstate commerce commission has not yet ruled on the rights of this stock to be voted by directors the old board said

Police guarded the Wheeling offices last night and records and files were locked in a vault for safekeeping The new Taplin board formally instructed itself to gain possession of this property and of one railroad system known as the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad

Road Has Two Divisions

The struggle for control of the road has been under way for some time The Van Sweringens wish to acquire the Wheeling terminal here as part of their gigantic new terminal development

The Wheeling has two divisions The main line runs from Bridgeport on the Ohio river to Toledo via Zanesville Orrville Wellington Nowalk and Fremont The other branch extends from Cleveland to Zanesville by way of Kent Canton and Coshocton The two divisions connect at Harmon

Friday Morning Set for Takeoff of Transatlantic Planes

Bad Weather Over Ocean May Give Fliers Chance To Make Start Together

New York Weatherman Sees 1,000 Miles of Clouds Over Atlantic, French Craft To Arrive at Old Orchard Beach This Afternoon

OLD ORCHARD Beach Me May 23—With the forbidding Green Dash in two feet behind it and the scheduled arrival this afternoon of the French monoplane Bernard 240 to prepare for a hop off Paris an opportunity can be given to see the two air monsters starting away together

Unfavorable weather reports were received by Capt Hilgert Williams of the Green Dash a few minutes before he and Capt Louis Nanges prepared to supervise the fueling of 510 gallons of gasoline in the plane

Dr James D Kimball of New York in his weather report of 1 000 miles of clouds stretching across the Atlantic and advised the fliers to wait until Friday morning for the takeoff

The monoplane Bernard is piloted by Armeno Lotte

Both Lotte and Williams are keen for an early takeoff They might be referred to as friendly enemies each of course anxious to get away from the shores of America before the other The Bernard is a far superior plane than the Green Dash It has a speed maximum of 160 miles per hour and is equipped with a Lorraine air cooled motor His cruising speed is 128 miles per hour as compared with the top speed of 125 miles per hour of the Green Dash

If a favorable weather report for Friday is received this afternoon William and Nancy will make preparations for the loading of the ship

William and Nancy already has forwarded their clothing to Boston for shipment to Italy

The fliers said they believe the flight would take approximately 60 hours Their gasoline supply is sufficient for 65 hours The Bernard monoplane will carry 1 000 gallons of gasoline sufficient for 40 hours

In a note dropped by the fliers at 7 20 o clock Lieutenant Clarke stated that repairs were successfully carried out

After the first pickup of 30 gallons of gasoline which were badly needed because only 50 gallons remained in the planes tank as a result of the leak a hot breakfast was hooked on to the plane The breakfast consisted of a quart of hot coffee six boiled eggs and numerous slices of buttered toast

WOULD ADOPT BILL AS PARTY MEASURE

House Republican Leaders Propose Disregard of Democratic Membership

WASHINGTON May 23—House Republican leaders today formally proposed that the new Hawley tariff bill be adopted as a party measure and passed in entire disregard of the Democratic membership

The proposal was made at a secret conference of Republicans called to draft a program which will insure passage of the bill in the house before June 1

The program called for adoption of a special rule which would limit amendments on the floor of the house to the ways and means committee thereby cutting off a threatened row over the sugar tariff building material schedules and many others

This course was adopted after long negotiations with the farm bloc the sugar bloc and other house groups which have banded together to write new increases in tariffs into the bill

The chief fight of the farm bloc centered in the closing stages for tariff boosts on live cattle and hides With members being willing to allow a duty on boots shoes and leather in order to get the hide tariff

Representative Simmons Republican of Nebraska headed these groups Thus demanded a rewriting of the live cattle schedule to present importation of Canadian "baby beeves They asked that the tariff on cattle weighing 700 pounds or less be increased from 1½ to 2 cents a pound and over 700 pounds from 2 to 3 cents

They proposed a 10 per cent duty on hides and announced they would accept a 15 per cent duty on leather and 20 per cent on boots and shoes

URGES CHARGE FOR OUTSIDE CHECKS

Minnesota Banker Claims Banks Lose Interest on Money Advanced

COLUMBUS May 23—Urging that Ohio banks charge a nominal sum for the cashing of checks drawn on out of town financial institutions R W Putnam vice president of the Minnesota Bankers association addressed the convention of the Ohio Bankers association which nearly 1 000 Ohio bankers are attending here today

Every time a bank cashes a check which is drawn upon a bank located in another city, it is in effect making a loan of money involved without receiving any interest

The bank which cashes the check uses its own funds to do so and must wait from one-to-six or more days before receiving the money from the bank upon which the check is drawn

Daily Loss Is Claims

The result is a tremendous daily loss to the institution which performs this service for its customers

Putnam explained that the situation is a serious one to bankers and declared that the banks of Minnesota Iowa and Illinois charge a nominal fee for the cashing of checks drawn upon out of town banks

A symposium on the management of country or small town banks also featured today s session

In addressing the divisional meeting C F Schwenker banking commissioner of Wisconsin said that soundness of small banks is dependent very largely upon the policies in making loans He urged extreme caution in this Most of the failures of the small institutions have been due to the unwise extension of credit to local borrowers or frozen assets the Wisconsin man said

He urged that all borrowers who wish to obtain a loan of more than $,00 should be forced to give a financial statement

Following up the lead of Schwenker A G Brown president of the Indiana bankers association insisted that the making of such statements is a benefit to both the borrower and the banker

It makes a successful business man out of an ordinary farmer, said Brown

WRIGHT TRIAL ENDS IN JURY DEADLOCK

Disagreement Reported After Deliberation of Three Hours

...ing for three hours in common pleas court yesterday afternoon failed to agree on either a verdict of guilty or the innocence of Willard Wright indicted on a charge of point...g a gun at Ben Carter.

The jury retired at 1 o'clock. An hour later the jury members asked to be brought in for additional instructions. At 3 o'clock the foreman W. G. Hinsmon reported to the bailiff that the jury was unable to agree. After remaining at their deliberations for another hour the jurors were called in by Judge George L. Seyfert.

The disagreement however failed to alter Wright's present plight. He is now in the county jail working out a liquor fine of $500.

This was the first petit jury called this year to hear a criminal case. All indictments returned by two previous grand juries resulted in pleas of guilty when those indicted were arraigned in court.

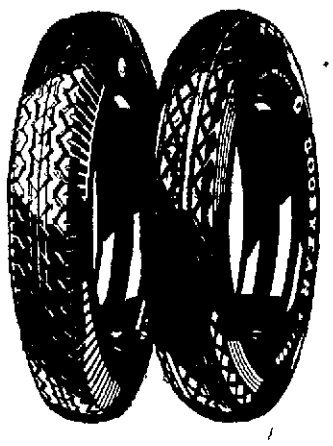
Trust to Experience—


The Greatest Teacher of Them All
TIRE BUYING is hardly to be counted among the "pleasures" of owning an automobile.
It means the paying out of money which also may be needed for something else.
That is why most car owners now think twice before they accept a tire. They desire that their purchases of tires be few and far between.
Advertising, friendship, high-powered words—these things don't influence tire-buyers as formerly. Tires are mostly bought today on a straight business basis. On the basis of proved facts, proved performance, proved superiority—not on talk or claims.
Millions more people than ever before now trust to experience—the greatest teacher of all—in choosing tires.
That is why millions more people buy Goodyear Tires than any other kind. Why, in a recent nation wide popularity check, car-owners favored Goodyears 2 to 1 over the next make—and from 3 to 1 up to 30 to 1 over other makes.
Goodyear sales, as a result, have leaped to many millions more than any other company.
Through this enormous and ever-increasing quantity production, costs have been steadily lowered, permitting Goodyear to give a quality so much greater for the same money that Goodyear Tires are by far "The World's Greatest Values."
Trust to Experience when YOU buy tires. Come to us, your Goodyear dealer. You can depend on one thing: you'll have the "pleasure" of seeing us far less frequently for the purchase of new tires.
GOODYEAR TIRES
—backed by our helpful year-round service

Tetrazzini's Love Dream Shattered As She Loses Her Youthful Husband

ROME, May 23—Her "love dream" completely shattered, Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini, world famous opera singer who at one time was declared the finest coloratura soprano living, barricaded herself in her apartment here today, and denied herself to the world.

Friends, relations, interviewers and sympathizers were one and all kept from her presence, as she made it known that she wished to have nothing to say about the court decree which granted her a legal separation from her husband, Pierro Vernali, who is almost 40 years her junior.

And Vernali, who for two years and a half knew the thrill of world fame as the youthful half of this May-December marriage, went back to work in his father's modest shirt-making shop in the Via Nazionale.

He too was reticent to speak of the breakdown of the marriage, and declined to give the reasons for the separation.

"Luisa and myself," he told International News Service, "agreed to say nothing of our private affairs."

The seperation was granted for incompatibility of temperament and interests.

News of the separation caused as great a sensation throughout Italy as did the marriage between the couple. Their wedding, which took place in Florence, was an elaborate and triumphal affair, and almost the entire city went on holiday to witness the marriage of the famous singer who is now reputed to be over 60, to a comparatively unknown lad of 22.

Judge Frederick L. Hoffman, in making the appointment, pointed out that almost as many women are accepted as jurors as are men, and it was due to this fact that he selected Mrs. Lindenberg for the commission.

BEE CAPTURE EASY FOR ADDISON BAIN

Shows How It's Done in Roundup on South Prospect St.

There are tricks to all trades and if you want proof of the unassailable truth of this statement some day watch Addison Bain, Marion's premier "Beeologist" out after a swarm of Italian Bees which he uses to make honey at his home here.

This reporter happened to be going down South Prospect st., in front of the Marion Club yesterday when Mr. Bain was trying to persuade some very pestiferous bees to enter a box he had brought up for that purpose.

Mr. Bain is willing to get rid of any swarm of bees buzzing at large in the city. While he was eating dinner yesterday he received notice from the office of Dr. H. K. Mouser, on South Prospect st., that a swarm of bees had been found in a bush in front of the Mouser home. Mr. Bain hurried down and within 20 minutes had the queen bee in his box and the rest of the swarm soon followed their leader and started to make some pure, snow-white honey for their captor.

According to this local authority on the subject the real trick is to get the queen bee into the box and after that the rest is easy. Mr. Bain's manner of procedure is something like this: he takes his box and places it near the place where the swarm of bees is in action. Then he partly smothers the bees with smoke and trusts to the queen bee entering his box.

The swarm which Mr. Bain captured yesterday was the second within 24 hours in the same location. Tuesday he captured a large swarm in the big tree overhanging the sidewalk in front of the Marion club. Inside of 15 minutes he had most of these bees in the box and by nightfall had the entire swarm hard at work manufacturing honey.

QUICKLY RELIEVES SWOLLEN JOINTS SORE MUSCLES

First Treatment Ends Agony or Money Back

Almost beyond belief is the immediate release from suffering which so many have enjoyed from this marvelous new German treatment, called Transkutan. Chronic rheumatism, neuralgia, gout, lumbago, neuritis, sciatica aches and pains relieved as if by magic, or money back. Your first treatment does it—is positively guaranteed to do it—or every cent you paid for it will be refunded.

According to leading European medical authorities, certain medically approved ingredients are absorbed through the skin and acts quickly through the circulation to expel said impurities—quiet pain quickly by getting at the cause—and restore greater use of stiff, sore muscles and lame joints or money refunded.

These successful European doctors have demonstrated to their own satisfaction that medicines can be successfully administered by Transkutan into the blood stream by absorption through the skin without upsetting digestion, kidneys or heart. The Transkutan treatment has been used so successfully in hospitals and sanitariums in Europe it is now being adopted in similar institutions in the United States.

One Transkutan treatment is held by these scientists to be the equivalent in effect to 10 to 15 baths at the famous Spas in Germany where the rich go to get well. Even the first treatment with Preparatory Transkutan No. 1 will break the grip this agonizing ailment has on your system, or money back. The Regular Transkutan No. 2 treatments used for a short time, depending upon the seriousness of your case, should show progressive improvement until all symptoms of the ailment are eradicated.

It just depends on how serious you are in wanting to get well. If you merely seek momentary comfort, don't bother with Transkutan. It is a real medical treatment, not just a palliative.

But if you really want to drive the torture of rheumatism out of your system, start the marvelous Transkutan treatments today. You can, right in your own home, at a fraction of the time and cost, do as much as those who can afford it accomplish by going abroad for six months or a year, or money back.

Don't limp around another day. Go straight to druggist, Heuney & Cooper, 130 W. Center st., and get Preparatory Transkutan No. 1 for your first treatment tonight. Money back if it fails. Also ask druggist for Free Booklet explaining what Transkutan is, how it works, and the convincing results which it obtains.—Adv.

PLANS PILGRIMAGE FOR WAR BEREAVED

Records of 14,000 Gold Star Mothers and Unmarried Widows Checked

WASHINGTON, May 23 — Records of 14,000 Gold Star Mothers and unmarried widows of America's soldier dead in Europe have been received at the cemterial division of the War Department and will be investigated in preparation for the pilgrimage to the eight cemeteries there are approximately 30,000 women in the United States who are eligible for the courtesy of this pilgrimage which will probably begin early in 1930 Present arrangements are to divide the pilgrimage into four sections

The bill passed at the last session of congress provides that every widow who has not married since her husbands death and every mother of soldiers and sailors buried in Europe will be permitted to make a visit to the grave of her loved one at the expense of the government

Send Invitations

Each person entitled to make the pilgrimage will receive an invitation from the cemeterial division, as soon as auth rities have approved the investigation reports

Many of the women who will receive the court sy of the trip, war department officials believe, are those who have seldom left their own communities Invitations will reach every section of the country, and to women of almost every nationality of the civilized world as many of the soldiers and sailors buried in the cemeteries of France and the one in Belgium and one in England were of foreign parentage

The trip is to be made on first class steamers with first class accommodations from start to return All expenses are to be paid by the government from the time the widow or mother leaves her home until she returns

Two Weeks in Europe

Each woman will be allowed two weeks in Europe and a one day stopover has been arranged in New York city

Liberal interpretation of the term "mother" is included in the bill It is set forth that the term mother may mean "mother step mother, mother through adoption or any woman who has stood in loco parentis to the deceased member for the year prior to the commencement of his service

Appropriations for the cost of the trip have not yet been made but are expected to be acted upon at the next regular session of congress in December

ROSALIE has just about decided to buy this flowered taffeta evening frock she is trying on Everyone knows that fashion goes in cycles and this dress is proof that the sleeve—whether used as front, back or side trimming—has completed a cycle and is back with us again

It's so much more fun to buy two dresses instead of one that Rosalie may decide to take along one of the new "finger print dresses. They are just what their name implies and the material looks like it has just tumbled out of the police court files

Nut-Sweet Flavor

It takes three years to produce Lucky Strike's flavor. This unrivaled cigarette is a blend of finest tobaccos from each of three consecutive growths—the cream of the crop. Then comes the secret toasting process which in the opinion of 20,679* physicians makes Lucky Strike less irritating than other cigarettes. This exclusive heat treatment also purifies the tobacco and adds a touch of nut-sweet flavor—appetizing, delicious, different—the earmark of one of the world's most popular products.

FAVORITES LOOK GOOD IN FIRST WEEK

LEADERS NOT HURT BY INITIAL UPSETS OF MARION SEASON

Calvary, Lee Street, C. D & M. and Eagles Stand Out

BY BOB ELLIOTT
Sport Staff, The Star

PRE-SEASON favorites are in the limelight of Marion recreation ball circles following the first week of play which closed Tuesday night.

The several upsets that occurred in the opening games did not touch the teams favored to win the four league pennants. Calvary, C., D. & M., Lee Street and Eagles, unless the unexpected happens, looked the part of little world series contenders.

In Sunday school league No. 1 Calvary Evangelical showed skeptics that they will be in there on the winning side of most of their engagements. In their only clash of the year, that against the Epworth Juniors last Tuesday night, the East Church st. team socked out eight runs and gave Gruber, their star hurler some acutional support. Neimeyer in center field looked good as did Flash Baldauf at short.

The old hitting power was still there, Calvary socking out three round-trippers in the fourth inning in addition to a triple. Myron Gibson got a home run that would nearly have cleared the left field fence had the game been played at Lincoln Park. Watch this team's smoke.

Epworth No. 1 looks for a first division berth. Bob Gamble defeated Epworth Seniors, 2 to 1 besting Roy Rice in a battle of the mound. This was Gamble's second game of the year and he now boasts a record of one run record off his delivery in 14 innings of play.

Other teams that will bear watching in this loop are Epworth Seniors and Christians

Fairfield is the surprise team of the opening week of play. Behind the excellent pitching of Gamble they shut out the Shovel Club in the biggest upset of the week's play. This team will be right in there at the finish if they can pound out enough hits to give Gamble a working margin.

Barring the Fairfield win the most unexpected other victory in the Industrial loop was the C., D. & M.'s lop-sided win over the ancient jinx, the Hubers. The Electrics copped this one 10 to 0

The C. D. & M. nine will get a good test tonight when it tackles the Erie Roundhouse at the Shovel No 2 diamond.

Last years championship team, the Eagles, got off to a good start by nosing out the Prospect Firemen 2 to 0 in the opening clash of the Commercial league. This sets the Lodgemen again off as favorites to capture the Commercial loop gonfalon. The Kappas who are expected to furnish the biggest obstacle to the onward march of the Eagles were nothing short of disappointing in their opening game with The Star. They won 6 to 4, but were rather lucky.

Prospect will still furnish plenty of trouble to this loop with the Shovel A. A. taking enough victories to keep the final result in doubt.

Lee St. Presbyterians, favorites to cop the Second Sunday school league flag, are off to a nice start. They won their second game of the season last night by defeating Forest Lawn Richard's home run with the bases full in the third frame, broke a 0-0 tie and the Forest Lawners' spirit.

United Brethren showed exceptional strength especially in the box in their opening clash. Dutch Zuspan hurled a no-hitter in this game against First Reformed although there seems to be some room for argument on this. The Reformers claim they got no less than five or six hits but the score book says nay.

The pennant in this league will probably not be settled until the U. B's and Lee St. team clash in the final games of the first and second rounds. Lutherans are not the same team with "Big Bertch" out of the box. They took their opening game by a 1-to-0 count from the Central Christians

More second division teams will get into their right places when the season gets started properly next week.

Cubs Open Series With St. Louis

BRUINS MUST WIN TWO OUT OF THREE TO STAY IN FRONT

Yankees Drop to Third Place as Washington Wins Double Header

THE baseball spotlight today centers in St Louis where the Cardinals and the Cubs, the only two teams in the National league that have played championship ball all spring, begin a crucial series of three games. The Cubs, half a game in front of the champions this morning must take two of the three contests to hold on to the league lead.

Mound City rooters who are all lathered up over the series also will be keeping a weather eye on their other favorites the Browns, who jumped to second place in the American league race yesterday by winning their third consecutive game from the White Sox while the Yankees were being trounced by Washington Bossting eight victories in their last 11 starts, the Browns refuse to be shaken off by the fast-flying Athletics, who have won six straight.

Rip Collins pitched the Brownies to a 7-to-3 triumph over the White Sox yesterday, St. Louis shelling Red Faber off the mound

A's Murder Red Sox

The Athletics, first team in the majors to win 20 games, garnered 16 hits and scored 12 runs in one inning in murdering the Red Sox, 16 to 2 Lefty Grove, the "iron man," took the afternoon off after the A's sewed up the game

Failure to hit Jones and Braxton cost the Yankees two defeats by Washington, 10 to 2 and 3 to 2, and a drop to third place. Johnson, Wells and Rhodes could not stop the Nats in the opener and Hoyt was the victim in the nightcap Goslin and Judge hit homers in the opener.

The batting of Eddie Morgan, who hit two triples and a single, featured Cleveland's 7-to-4 win over Detroit

Phillies Tie Boston

The Phillies tied Boston for fourth place in the National league by drubbing the Braves twice, 6 to 3 and 13 to 4.

With Remy Kremer pitching his first full game of the season, the Phillies crushed Cincinnati, 11 to 2 The punch-drunk Reds, who have lost six straight, dropped into seventh place below the Giants, who divided a double bill with Brooklyn.

Clise Dudley, southern pitching recruit, completed his first full major league game in beating New York in the opener, 3 to 2. Thanks to an error by Eddie Moore, Brooklyn's new second baseman, the McGrawmen won the second game in the tenth, 7 to 3, and saved themselves from a flop into the cellar.

THE TOLEDO ASSASSIN

Lee Meredith, (pictured above), will meet Bennie Tarentolo, Barberton, in the main go bout of the Eagles' fight card to be given next Monday night. Meredith is a favorite with Marion fans, having won all his fights here by knockouts. He will appear for the first time Monday night in the role of main entertainer on a local card.

TRAINERS OF HORSES HERE HANDICAPPED BY WET WEATHER

No Local Racers Will Be Entered in First Meet at Norwalk

BY KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

THIS business of training harness horses has been all wet this season. That's the consensus today as trainers attempt to get their steeds into shape at the fairgrounds oval for the opening of the 1929 harness campaign.

Wet weather has been a great handicap to the trainers of some 30 horses quartered in Marion throughout the winter. Not a single horse from Marion stables will be entered in the opening race meet of the season at Norwalk next week. Weather conditions have been so bad, some of the trainers state, that many of the sulky pullers will not be in condition to start in the Marion Short Ship meet booked to open at the fairgrounds, June 8.

With the Mansfield meet following the one in Marion, most of the local horses will not see action until the county fairs get under way the latter part of June or early in July.

Harry Pfifer is training the largest stable at the Marion track this season. He has been working out eight horses, many of them showing considerable promise as big money winners.

His favorite is Eli Direct with a mark of 2:05¼. This horse will probably be his main bet during the campaign. Among the other horses that Pfifer is training are Ruth J, 2:10¾; Neb More, 2:12¼, Peter Chan, 2.15¼. In addition he has a number of green pacers and trotters that are expected to do big things this season.

An 11-months old colt is attracting considerable attention in the Pfifer stables. He is Harry Chan, sired by Baron Chan. The colt will be started next year. He is one of the best prospects in the way of green material quartered at the track.

Frank Cowen has two horses in training. Both of them are green trotters. Guess and Hinville Girl will probably start in the county fair events this season.

HARRY TAKES 'EM

NEWARK, N. J., May 23—Harry Alberts, Scranton, Pa. light-heavyweight, had proved to the satisfaction of Newark fight fans today that he can "take it." Outclassed but game, Alberts was knocked down no less than 15 times here last night in his bout with Cowboy Willis, of Tacoma, Wash., before taking the long count in the fourth round.

The Junior baseball championship of Marion will probably rest with the Eagles as the result of the first round of play ending last night with the league leaders taking their third straight game of the season defeating the Kiwanians, 7 to 4.

The Eagles is the only team in the league that has not been defeated. Three teams are tied for second place in the standings with the Eagles out in front two full games.

Errors and weak pitching gave the Eagles their victory over the Kiwanians last night. The winners scored one run in each of the first four innings and in the seventh they pushed two across to clinch the contest. The Kiwanis team outhit its opponents, 6 to 5.

Alterations Free

It's the greatest suit value in the history of the store. Just think of buying splendidly tailored all wool suits carrying the Clothcraft label for the ridiculous low price of $15.00, with alterations free. To be sure, they are broken assortments, odd lots, sample lines and odds and ends that the makers of Clothcraft Clothes were anxious to get rid of, but every one of them was made to sell at $20.00 to $25.00. There's sizes and models here to fit most every man, and young man, but of course there is a broken assortment of miscellaneous colors and patterns, including plenty of staple conservative suits.

Presenting Clothing Values for the Final Wind-Up of Our May Sale Such as Never Have Been Offered Before In a Pre-Decoration Day Event

It has been a backward spring for the manufacturers of men's clothing. Retailers have been buying from hand to mouth. As a result many manufacturers accumulated surplus stocks.

The desire of the makers of Clothcraft Clothes to close out their made up stocks made possible one of the Greatest May Sales in our History. We bought almost Half a thousand suits at drastic reductions for our May Sale. The response was so great that we were able to go back to the factory this last week and make a final clean-up purchase at even more astonishing reductions.

The suits in this second purchase have arrived and added to our remaining stocks from the previous purchase as well as hundreds of suits from our regular stocks go on sale commencing tomorrow at Four Greatly Reduced Prices.

FINAL REHEARSAL HELD BY SENIORS

First Presentation of Class Play Tonight at Grand Theater

Costumes arrived at Harding High school Wednesday afternoon from the Emily Sullivan studio, Columbus for the play, 'The Queen's Husband' to be presented tonight and Friday night at the Grand theater by the senior class of Harding High school

The costumes are gorgeous affairs of satin and tulle rhinestones and spathetic stones official looking braid swords knee breeches everything that goes with modern court life

Intermittent outbursts of excessive pleasure emitted by collegiate adjectives subdued murmurs of pleasure all mingled together in the room where the costumes were unpacked last night with Miss Lucile Foreman director of the play in charge

Last night a semi full dress rehearsal was held at Central Junior High school The added excitement of members of the cast seeing each other dressed as they never had been before and probably never would be again rather delayed serious work for a short time but after that the boys and girls knowing that the eleventh hour had been reached settled down to serious earnest work

Seat sale for both nights indicates that there will be packed houses This is the first year that there have been two performances given on separate nights Heretofore the plays have been given for a matinee and night presentation

After Two Years Vain Search for Health, Famous Medicine Quickly Came To Rescue

MR LAWRENCE KRAMER
'It is a great pleasure for me to be able to tell you that Konjola ended two years of suffering for me said Mr Lawrence Kramer 8220 Chase Street, Toledo
Two years ago I was taken down with the flu from which I never fully recovered My system was completely run down I suffered from stomach kidney and liver troubles Each meal brought on sick bloating Belching spells were common My heart palpitated and I became short of breath Dizzy spells made me grasp for something to keep from falling My legs from the knees down were weak and stiff My sleep was constantly disturbed by frequent bladder actions
Two bottles of Konjola made a remarkable change in my condition My stomach liver and kidneys rapidly responded to the treatment I grew stronger soon my stomach was restored to normal functioning and I can eat what I please Dizzy spells are ended and my sleep is sound The weakness has left my limbs I feel like a new man and I owe it all to Konjola
